

[Houston, January 1, 2024] – ZTERS, a leading provider of waste management solutions, is pleased to announce the appointment of David Singleton as the new Vice President of Operations. With a wealth of experience in operations and strategic leadership, David Singleton will play a pivotal role in steering ZTERS towards continued growth and expanding its presence across North America.

David Singleton brings a distinguished track record of success in the infrastructure services industry to ZTERS. As the former Chief Operating Officer of American Infrastructure Group, a prominent player in the field, David oversaw comprehensive asset integrity, data collection, data fusion, and field construction services. His responsibilities included strategic planning with the executive team and financial stakeholders, managing operations, implementing cutting-edge technologies, integrating acquisitions, and cultivating strong client relationships.

Prior to his tenure at American Infrastructure Group, David Singleton served as the CEO of Griffin Dewatering, a leading groundwater management, movement, and treatment company with 200 employees across 17 locations in the United States. Under his leadership, Griffin Dewatering experienced substantial growth, diversifying its service offerings to include water treatment and filtration. David also orchestrated the addition of multiple locations and bolt-on acquisitions, defining the company's brand and fostering a responsive, service-oriented culture.

David Singleton's leadership at Griffin Dewatering extended to improving efficiency through the development of processes and procedures, providing real-time sales pipeline and project profitability data, and creating a clear career path for employees. His commitment to excellence and strategic vision has consistently driven organizations to new heights.

Chad Farley, CEO of ZTERS, expressed his excitement about David Singleton joining the ZTERS team, saying, "We are thrilled to welcome David Singleton as our new Vice President of Operations. His extensive experience and proven ability to drive growth and innovation in the infrastructure services sector make him a valuable addition to our leadership team. We look forward to working closely with David as we continue to expand our presence and deliver exceptional waste management solutions nationwide."

David Singleton's appointment reinforces ZTERS' commitment to providing top-notch waste management services and further solidifies its position as an industry leader. With his expertise and vision, ZTERS is poised to achieve new milestones and continue delivering exceptional value to its clients.
